Migration and the Reds

Even the experts in the West disagree on what motivates leaders in the Communist countries in holding their people solidly behind their various cement, bamboo and steel curtains.

The cement wall dividing East and West Berlin prevents the residents of East Berlin from leaving the squalor of that city for the bright hopeful city of West Berlin. It also prevents many of the western people from getting a clear view of the East Berlin area which appears to such a disadvantage to people from West Berlin. Nevertheless, the Red rulers maintain the wall even though it is an obvious admission of their own failure to govern properly.

In Hong Kong, the Red Chinese for a time appeared to be encouraging the Chinese people to leave their homes to slip into Hong Kong which is a British crown colony. Suddenly, however, they changed their tactics and the influx of Chinese refugees was suddenly halted.

Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, believes that the flow of refugees to Hong Kong was cut off because the Chinese Communist government no longer could tolerate a display of dissatisfaction with its regime. He said the migration of the Chinese to Hong Kong had dramatized Communist failure just as the flight from Communism had driven the East German regime to build a wall in the center of Berlin. He believes that the flow of refugees had been encouraged originally because of a shortage of food in Canton but in reality had little to do with reports of starvation in China. Harriman was testifying before a Senate subcommittee which is considering legislation to permit 5,000 Chinese refugees to immigrate to the United States.

In connection with this proposal, it is interesting to note that Keyes Beech of the Chicago Daily News service recently reported that the removal of a few thousand Chinese refugees from Hong Kong to the United States would not be an unmixed blessing for Hong Kong. He points out that although there are literally thousands of Chinese refugees in Hong Kong they would not benefit by such an American program. What would happen, he says, would be the removal from Hong Kong of a few thousand of the "elite English speaking Chinese with 'know how' whom Hong Kong can ill afford to lose."

While the transfer of these Chinese to the United States appears to have been encouraged by the influx of refugees it would in fact have nothing to do with recent refugees. Such a move would leave Hong Kong with all recent refugees and would at the same time remove some better trained people who are now needed more than ever before in Hong Kong.

The removal of a few thousand Chinese people from Hong Kong to America, if it has any purpose at all, would be that of improving relations between America and the people of Red China. Whether that purpose would really justify the move seems doubtful.

South Africa Seeks Settlers

The Afrikaner Nationalist government of South Africa is planning a selective immigration project which it hopes will increase South Africa's white minority from 3.067.338 by 10,000,000 before the year 2,000. The present population of Africans, Asians and mixed blood or "coloreds" now total 12.773,490. The goal of the immigration project is to bring in enough whites to surpass that number.

Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd hopes to get between 40,000 and 50,000 white people from Europe to enter South Africa each year.

The adoption of this immigration projest is a complete reversal of the Afrikaner Nationalist government's policy in recent years. In 1948 the Nationalists took over the office and cut off the existing immigration program because the government feared that such programs would "fall under" the Afrikaners. Before the Nationalists made the change as many as 36,000 settlers a year were entering South Africa in search of new homes. A decision to change the policy and encourage immigration is due to fear that the growth of the country's present white population will never catch up or keep pace with that of the Africans, Asians and coloreds.

The government is prepared to spend up to $4,200,000 per year to get the immigrants it wants. Recruiting offices have been set up in Britain. Italy, Greece, West Germany, Portugal, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Austria. The efforts of the immigration offices will be directed to interesting mechanics, technicians, engineers, clerical workers, nurses, teachers and other skilled persons from Europe, it is said.

This is an interesting change in policy for South Africa. In recent months Africa has been standing alone, an almost friendless nation because of its racial policies. It lost its place in the British Commonwealth of Nations because of its racial stand and is a sort of outcast among all civilized nations of the world. The importation of thousands of people from Europe is almost certain to result in a change in the racial policy.

Although these people are being invited to come perhaps out of fear of an uprising of those with darker skin in the South African area, the importation of Europeans may do more than merely overbalance the population numerically. Almost certainly, the people from Europe will have different ideas on racial rules and conduct than have the present Afrikaners. It is extremely unlikely that the immigration policy will have anything like the results now sought by the Afrikaners.

an organization." Women were banned from the meetings because they proved to be too distracting. The unwritten rules tacitly agreed upon were that every one would act like a gentleman and they would oppose to the death becoming organized. But last month more than two hundred Dissenters—and their wives—had a banquet in tribute to their founder. There were speeches of praise, a reporter who wrote up the proceedings, and we suspect something like creamed chicken and cold peas just like every other banquet. Most serious of all was that there wasn't a murmur of dissent all through the eve-

Natural Gas Reserves

On one occasion we asked a utility man if he did not entertain fear that the rapidly growing use of gas might deplete the reserves and put him out of business. The reply was that he was not worried at all and that "you need not worry either because there will be plenty of gas available long after you are gone."

It appears that he was right. In 1945, the nation's estimated proved recoverable reserves of natural gas were estimated at 147.3 trillion cubic feet. In that year there were produced and consumed 4.8 trillion cubic feet. By 1955 the estimated reserves had grown to 223.7 trillion cubic feet and in that year the production and use of gas reached 10.1 trillion cubic feet. Every year since that time the estimated proved recoverable reserves of natural gas have increased and likewise every year the production and use have increased. In 1961, the proved reserves were estimated at 267.7 trillion cubic feet and the production of gas had risen to 13.5 trillion cubic feet.

According to the American Gas Association, last year both production and reserves set new records. Nearly 4 trillion cubic feet were added to the proved recoverable reserves despite an increase in production of 400 billion cubic feet over the previous year. During the past decade discoveries, extensions and revisions have added 72 trillion cubic feet more gas than the 110.3 trillion taken out of the ground. So far as it is possible to see ahead, it appears that we will be safe in using gas freely for some time to come.

The boy rolled his toy plane on the terrazzo floor. Some of the older passengers from the Havana flight patted him on the head as they went through the waiting room.

Then a Catholic sister, who regularly meets the freedom flights, held out her hands. The little boy forgot his plane for a few minutes while he buried his head in the dark folds of her familiar habit.

Yet the selection of almost any of Friedrick had been expected - it was forecast here six weeks ago - but there was not a ripple of adverse comment in spite of what might have seemed to be extraordinary implications to some persons.

LABOR'S VOICE

For Mr. Friedrick has devoted his life to a special interest organized labor. His is perhaps the single most important voice of the unions in Wisconsin.

It may be that there are other colleges or universities in the country that have put professional labor organizers into their all they're permitted to do is ad- ing, but, from the obvious rechairmanships, but no other example involving a major university comes to mind. But Jake Friedrick is not an

Jake Friederick is not likely to make any concessions in his labor institutional loyalties or his political viewpoint, whatever honors come his way at the end of his career. Yet his rise to the highest office in the university is scarcely to be interpreted as its surrender to special interests, or its domination by radical views. The taking over of the Uni-"liberals", whatever that word may mean in institutional operations, is plain enough on the one of the other "liberals" on record, but it is likely to be a the board might have brought ritualistic capture, nevertheless. some resistance. The nomination The regents can do little to change the university in any significant degree without the consent of the legislature, and they are not likely to get that. Indeed, they know as well as anyone that they will be required to deal with another Republican legislature next year, and pace themselves accordingly.

> There is a very good chance. moreover, that the numerical control of the liberals is more nominal than real. Two of the members of the five to four liberal majority have not yet been confirmed by the state senate and thus have a tenuous hold on their seats. One of them, at least, will fail of confirmation by the senate next year if the Republicans retain a majority there in the fall elections, which is just about an arithmetical certainty.

Thus Chairman Friedrick cannot be certain of getting the second and third terms as chairman that most university board leaders have had, and his election can be judged for what it probably is - a demonstration of the essentially democratic character of the institution that is so deeply involved in the progress and vigor of the democratic society. That this high place can change hands, from corporation president to labor advocale, with no more excitement than the changing of shifts ture generations can't be here of the campus police is perhaps to see all the wonderful things the most significant aspect of the

Russia, Red China Playing 'Double Cross'

Both Countries . Using the Other In Southeast Asia

BY DAVID LAWRENCE WASHINGTON - The biggest came of double cross the world has ever witnessed is going on in Southeast Asia. The Soviet Union is doublecrossing her ally

- Red China. The Red Chinese are double-cross-

States is playing waiting, and thus far seems to have managed to keep the Communists from achieving their main aim. For Red China's true aim is not merely to capture Laos, but to grab all of Southeast Asia, It may take quite a while to do it, but this is the long-range scheme as it is being unfolded step by

The Soviet Union's purpose, on the other hand, is actually to prevent the Red Chinese from achieving a mastery of the Southeast! Asia area, while ostensibly giving them support.

Acceptable Plan This means that, for the moment, the idea of a unity of factions in Laos — sometimes called "coalition" government — is acceptable to the Russians and. for exactly opposite reasons, also to the Red Chinese. The Soviets: are confident that, by their methods of infiltration, they can control the so-called "neutral" government of Laos, while the Red Chinese think they can do the same through their own techniques. But the real objective of Red China is to get hold of South Viet Nam and Thailand, as well as

The United States has put up a roadblock against the conquest of Laos by sending Marines in substantial numbers to near-by Thailand and a fleet to adjacent waters to show the Communists will even intervene in Laos if it. becomes necessary. It was this move, rather than any feeling of forbearance which caused Red China and the Soviets to let the "coalition" government emerge

Whether the recent activities by the United States have effectively stopped the Red Chinese plan take over Southeast Asia, or merely caused a temporary interruption, cannot be determined at this time. Unquestionably, each side is watching the other, and if there is any sign of faltering: on the part of America, developments can come quickly and decisively.

Weak Propaganda What seems incredible today is the way the peoples of the West have allowed their own propaganda to become so weak and vacillating in the face of the biggestmarch of imperialism the present century has witnessed. The Soviet. Union has already extended her empire far and wide to conquer more territory than the czars of Russia ever hoped to conquer. Red China has moved into neighboring areas, too, and has attacked countries across her horders. If the Red Chinese weren't restrained by fears of Western military action, they would not hesitate to make a grab (or India and Pakistan as well. Incidentally, the Soviet Union. though claiming to be neutral, has been sending military supplies from North Viet Nam to Laos, and yet criticizes the United States for sending military advisers to Laos.

The Red Chinese, for the time being, are concentrating their strategy on Southeast Asia. But they are not sure where the Soviets may stand if a crisis comes. It is: rather than ideological which may have differences. caused talk of estrangement in relations between the two big-Communist ailies.

The true imperialists in the world today, therefore, are the Soviets and the Red Chinese. Yet official American propaganda hesitates to recognize this truth and to characterize it plainly in daily broadcasts.

Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina. Democrat, has recently called attention to the timidity of American officials in the phrasing of their public statements about the Communists. A Senate subcommittee has done a very good job in exposing the weaknesses in American propaganda.

Radio Free Europe

Maybe Radio Free Europe will have to carry on the real burden of the propaganda war. It's a private operation, financed largely by individual Americans, Many so-called "neutral" nations are being tooled by the Soviet and Red Chinese imperialists. They have been listening to the Com-

Shell scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of what is probably your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

1. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers. Your piston rings may be worn.

Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment. White smoke is mostly water vapor.

Don't worry about it. 2. Check wheel alignment at least twice a year. An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50 percent. Also, keep your wheels balanced. An unbalanced wheel pounds the tire against the pavement, wearing the tread unevenly. 3. Rotate tires every 6,000 miles. Be sure to include your spare. This helps tires wear evenly, last longer. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

4. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. High speeds increase tire wear drastically -by as much as 80% over normal wear.

5. Use your engine to save your brake linings. Try to avoid hard, sudden braking. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.

6. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your careven in summer. But never race your cold engine to warm up. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.

7. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. Spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at the right instant. With incorrect timing, you can lose power and mileage. Also, your car may knock. And chronic knocking can damage your engine.

8. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If your engine persists in knocking, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.

Super Shell contains all of the antiknock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.

9. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline. Oil does not wear out. But it can be lost through leaks or burning. And it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid.

Suggestion: use new Shell X-100# Premium Motor Oil. It fights engine acid and four other troubles that can shorten engine life.

10. Change your oil filter element regularly. The filter is designed to catch and hold foreign particles so they can't get into your engine. Replacing the filter element at regular intervals helps your engine last longer.

11. Have your car's cooling system checked in spring and fall. Cooling system rust inhibitors can wear out. Rust, corrosion and sediment may then start to form. In the spring, let your Shell dealer inspect your entire cooling system. When he drains and refills, he'll add a special Cooling System Protector.

In the fall, you get a free cooling system inspection when you have Shellzone anti-freeze put in by your Shell dealer.

12. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and hushings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

Shellubrication at regular intervals helps protect those vital parts.

13. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. There are little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors. They can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Result: Rust forms more easily, can eat through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.

14. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or a strip of cellulose tape.

15. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car may have cost you thousands of dollars. Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money -and increase your driving pleasure, too.

She isn't fashionably dressed like other women She wears no lipstick, no make-up, no high heels or nylons Instead of a perky hat, her head is covered by a hood and veil Her dress is a billowing, fulllength habit that bears little resemblance to feminine fash-

And as she passes by, you realize that here is a woman different from others not only in dress but in her entire way of life. Here is one who has deliberately turned her back upon the worldly pleasures which other women seek and enjoy And perhaps you wonder why a woman should give up all this to become a Catholic nun

Is it because she is afraid to face the world and its responsibilities? Is it because she lacks talents that other women possess and therefore seeks shelter in the convent? Is she devoid of maternal instinct? Or does she choose the life of a nun because she thinks it is easier and more secure than life in a world of fluctua ating economic conditions? No-a nun who will knock at your door asking for alms for the poor surely is not afraid of the world. A Catholic sister. competent to teach in a school and often highly gifted in the arts and languages is surely not lacking in talents Nor can anyone who has seen a Catholic nun mothering the sick in a hospital believe that she is lacking in the maternal

What is it, then, that prompts a woman to turn her back upon the pleasures and luxuries of the world for a life of poverty, chasting and obedience? How is it that hundreds of thousands of women do this many of them coming from well to do families which could supply their every need and wish? What is the spark that fires their zeal for God, and for humanity?

The answer is, of course, that the heart of a nun is filled with the desire to serve God. And that desire is the product of her Catholic Faith

Perhaps you would not or could not become a nun, or a priest, or a religious of the Catholic Church Perhaps you would not even want to be a Catholic But if you wish to inform yourself concerning the teachings and beliefs of the Church which can inspire such magnificent sacrifice and service, write for Free Pamphlet AP-25 It will be sent in a plain wrapper and nobody will call on you

49er Linebacker Traded to Eagles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The San Francisco 49ers announced trading middle linebacker Bob Harrison, former Oklahoma All America, to the Philadelphia Eagles for a high draft choice:

Tuesday. Harrison was the second line backer traded by the National Football League club Tuesday. Gordon Kelley was sent to the Washington Redskins also for a high draft choice.

Kelley, from the University of Georgia, had been a regular most of the past two seasons and Harrison was a regular in 1961.

Coach Red Hickey said veteran offensive tackle John Thomas would be moved to middle linebacker. So the 49ers will open training in July with Thomas in place of Harrison, Carl Kemmerer in place of Kelley and Capt. Matt Hazeltine as usual at right
